

Kodi Verhalen Selected as Up and Coming Attorney by Minnesota Lawyer

June 22, 2018

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. – Briggs and Morgan, P.A. is pleased to announce that Kodi Verhalen has been named an Up & Coming Attorney for 2018 by Minnesota Lawyer. The annual listing honors lawyers who distinguish themselves in their first 10 years of practice through professional accomplishment, leadership and service to the community and the legal profession.

Verhalen is a member of the firm’s Energy section, representing and counseling clients in the areas of energy and the environment. Her practice also involves assisting clients with general legal issues, including confidentiality and conflicts of interest for engineering firms. She is a qualified neutral under Minnesota Practice Rule 114 and serves as a mediator for the Hennepin County Court Pro Bono Mediation Project.

In addition to her law degree, Verhalen is also licensed as a professional engineer in Minnesota and is the immediate past president of the National Society of Professional Engineers, a 31,000-member organization. She was the youngest person, and the third woman, in the organization’s history to hold the office of president.

“To be recognized by Minnesota Lawyer with such a tremendous group of Minnesota attorneys is an incredible honor,” said Verhalen. “These individuals and their accomplishments demonstrate the incredible depth and breadth of skills of the young legal professionals in Minnesota.”
