

Dan Van Dyk Earns Real Property Law Specialist Certification

August 5, 2014

Briggs and Morgan shareholder Dan Van Dyk has recently become board certified as a Real Property Law Specialist by the Minnesota State Bar Association (MSBA). The certified specialist designation is earned by leading attorneys who have completed a rigorous approval process, including an examination in the specialty area, peer review and documented experience. Certified attorneys have demonstrated superior knowledge, skill and integrity in a specific field.

Van Dyk is a member of the Financial Institutions and Real Estate Section and concentrates a significant portion of his practice on representing corporate clients, developers and investment funds in the acquisition, financing, development and sale of large-scale projects located throughout the country. He assists these clients with all aspects of a transaction, from addressing title and survey issues prior to acquisition, negotiating and documenting and securing financing before, during and following construction, to handling development and land use issues.
