

Reach

A strong regional presence with national reach

Briggs and Morgan provides sophisticated legal services to regional, national and international businesses, wherever they do business.

From our Midwest base, our reach extends beyond state borders and across countries and continents, including Canada, Central and South America, Europe and Asia. We handle a broad range of legal matters for clients around the world, as well as assist foreign-based companies doing business in the United States. Briggs represents companies of all sizes, from global brands and multinational market leaders, to start-up enterprises and privately held companies, in a multitude of industries.
